WOOL

As wool, we act out of the desire to market the magnificent natural biodegradable wool obtained from live sheep shearing together with the wool we obtain in our own factories as a by-product in leather production. If you are thinking of producing a wool-based product or adding it to an existing product range, we can help. Our aim is to provide a transparent service where honesty and integrity are a natural part of the process. Because we care about where the wool comes from and where it ends, we are involved in the procurement process from start to finish, and we enjoy working closely with our customer to ensure they get the best wool every time. We respond quickly to the needs of our customers. By building strong relationships with our customers, we learn about how they like to work, what they need and how we can support them. Our business relations; Respect, Delivered on time, A reasonable price, It is built on the ability to deliver consistent and consistent quality. We always strive to make the supply chain process as simple as possible, as we proudly maintain strong relationships with manufacturers of our products in carpets, apparel, furniture, home textiles, building products and beyond.

LIVE SHEARING WOOL

It is a wool obtained directly by shearing live sheep without any washing or processing. It contains high levels of lanolin and dirt. While lanolin can be used in cosmetic products such as hand creams and body lotions, semi-oily wool can be used to create waterproof gloves and gloves used by fishermen. Oily wool can be cleaned in a number of processes using a natural bath process or a more complex chemical carbonization process.

WASHED WOOL

It is the wool obtained after the process of shearing wools with various chemical materials. We have the ability to meet our customers' demand for high quality washed wool throughout the year. Consistency and reliability are at the heart of our business, and we meet our customers' needs by working successfully with suppliers around the world.
